RESS AND RADIO:

The seasons turn, and now it's Basketball. We hope the Blue Book will be helpful.

We invite you to cover our games whenever you can. Although our Working Press space is limited, if you will give us sufficient notice, we will do our best to make room for you.

In that connection, we would like to state our policy. Newspapers will be limited to two spaces, Radio Broadcasting crews to three. Reservations should be made as far in advance of the games as possible. Tickets will not be mailed, but must be picked up at the Sports News office, 207-C Woollen Gymnasium.

We hope to improve conditions at the Working Press tables and request your cooperation, including an understanding of our problems.

While we have tried to include essential information on our Basketball team in the Blue Book, you no doubt will need more from time to time. We hope to have our office equipped to take care of your needs promptly. Do not hesitate to call on us.

Requests for such information and applications for Working Press tickets should be made to:

The Prospects

With six lettermen returned, including three of last season's starters, North Carolina looks for an improved quint in 1946-47, but as Coach Tom Scott points out, that will be the general order for the opposition as well.

The team loses Jim (Pappy) Hamilton and Jim White from last winter's exciting combination which closed out with a rush, capturing its last eight starts and finishing as runner-up to N. C. State for the Southern Conference championship.

Most severe loss among last season's reserves is Jim Hayworth, a competent workman who always had a steadying influence on the team.

Blond, ball-hawking Bob Paxton, expected to be a candidate for All-American honors, set-shot Norman Kohler and lanky Sherman (Nemo) Nearman are the three starters of last season who are in White Phantom livery again.

John (Hook) Dillon, an All-American of two seasons ago, and speedy Taylor Thorne, the Rocky Mount flash, are the other lettermen on hand.

Breaking into the starting lineup with Paxton, Kohler and Nearman, are Mervin (King) Cole, 6-1 senior up from the Jayvees, and Bill Miller, slender and agile 6-3½ newcomer from Williamsburg, Ky. Miller played at a teachers college in Kentucky and later service basketball.

Paxton and Miller work in the forward slots, Nearman at center, and Cole and Kohler at the guards. The team has more height than last season and is just about as fast. Reserve strength is considerably more impressive.

Dillon (The Hook) looked so good in early workouts that there was a possibility he might beat out Nearman at the pivot. Thorne will be Mr. Handyman to speed up the works when he is sent in.

Coy Carson, Sophomore from Asheville, is a flashy player who is likely to see plenty of action. Fred Swartzberg is a junior from High Point who stands 6-3 and looks to be the goods. Little Fred Ryan, a reserve guard, probably is the most spectacular ball handler on the club.

There are others who will play a lot of basketball for the White Phantoms this winter.

The only freshman on the varsity squad is Norman Mitchell, a 6-4 lad from Bloomington, Ind.

The Phantoms are not expected to set any high scoring records as they do not appear to be that type of team. Their forte will be defense and every indication is that they will be tough to score on extensively.

There is plenty of meat in the schedule.

The Coaches

HEAD COACH TOM SCOTT. Begins his second year at North Carolina, where he succeeded Ben Carnevale, now coaching at the United States Naval Academy. A native of Pittsburgh, Kansas, Scott played high school ball there and four years varsity basketball at Kansas State Teachers College as star forward. Upon graduation he played with Wichita Henrys on that team's national AAU championship team in 1931. He coached for five years in Kansas high schools, then moved to Morehead, Minn. and became head coach at Concordia College, serving two years. In 1938 at Central Missouri State Teachers College. Coached there four years. Lieutenant in Navy four years before returning to Missouri State Teachers. His teams won M.I.A.A. conference championship four years out of five. Lost only five conference games in five years. His teams selected all five years as representatives in the National Intercollegiates. Beat University of Kansas in 1939, year that team won the Western NCAA championship. Won Oklahoma City tournament by defeating such teams as Oklahoma A & M, Texas University, S.M.U., and Tulsa. Never beaten by Missouri Valley teams. Quiet, handsome coach with golf, fishing, hunting and bridge his main hobbies. Married, has five-year-old son who is master of his home.

CLYDE E. (PETE) MULLIS, Assistant Coach. A native of Charlotte, N. C., where he began playing basketball as a juvenile, growing up in a Charlotte basketball-conscious generation which later produced many college stars, most of them playing at North Carolina. Starred at Central High School, Charlotte, four years before four years experience at North Carolina from 1934 through 1938. A little man, expert ball handler as player and especially skilled at long, set shots. Helped in coaching Carolina freshmen teams four years and has been on varsity coaching staff past four years. Has year-around post as assistant professor of physical education at North Carolina. One of most popular professors with students.

The Players

FORWARDS

BOB PAXTON: No. 4. Age 22, Ht. 6-2, Wt. 175, from Spokane, Washington.....An ace on last winter's team, blond, ball-hawking, ham-handed Bob is considered an All-America candidate this year.....A graduate student, he is a three-year letterman who last season scored 277 points, being runner-up to the departed Jim Hamilton for team high scoring honors.....He is noted for his rebound work on both backboards.

BILL MILLER: No. 21. Age 22, Ht. 6-3½, Wt. 188, from Williamsburg, Ky......His first year at Carolina but "The Kid," a slender, agile performer, was a high ranking player at Eastern Kentucky Teachers College and then carried on as a service star on the Fort Benning quint..... Previous to that in Kentucky he was a great high school star.....Jumped right into a starting berth, with his height a welcome addition to the squad.

COY CARSON: No. 12, Age 20, Ht. 6-0, Wt. 175, from Asheville, N. C......"The Kit" came to Carolina with a flaming high school reputation. Once he scored 90 points in a game up in the Land of the Sky.....Later played at Camp Peary, Va., when he was serving a year in the Navy..... Carson was promising last year but green.....He will be one of the top reserves this season..... Owns a good one-hand push shot.

FRED SWARTZBERG: No. 19, Age 20, Ht. 6-3, Wt. 195, from High Point, N. C......Has played basketball at three institutions, High Point high school, N. C. State and last season with Carolina's junior varsity.....A big, tall, strong fellow, he is a powerhouse on the courts, but also has plenty of finesse.....One of his tricks is to spin a ball on his finger tips.

ROGER SCHOLBE: No. 10, Age 23, Ht. 5-11, Wt. 172, from Milwaukee, Wisc......."Rog," who served in the Naval Air Corps, captained his high school team and in 1943 played with Georgia Pre-Flight.....Stocky but active, he is a good one-hand shot and very competent as an all-around performer.....A two-season letterman.

MARX NATHAN: No. 6, Age 22, Ht. 5-11, Wt. 155, from Chapel Hill.....A local boy, he played with Chapel Hill high school and later on service teams at Keesler Field and Truax Field.....He is a fast breaker.

CENTERS

SHERMAN NEARMAN: No. 18, Age 21, Ht. 6-6, Wt. 195, from Charleston, W. Va......Nemo was a sensation as a freshman last year when he beat out famed "Hook" Dillon in mid season for the pivot post, with his team immediately starting on a winning streak thereafter.....Nemo was only a second team man in his one year of high school basketball, but played well in the service for the Fleet Post Office and Charleston Navy yard teams.....He is fast and aggressive, a Sophomore.

JOHN DILLON: No. 13, Age 23, Ht. 6-2, Wt. 185, from Savannah, Ga.,......"The Hook" broke into the national limelight two seasons ago when he charmed Madison Square Garden galleries with his dazzling hook shot.....Named on the All-America that season.....Last winter he faded, failing to fit in with new coach Tom Scott's system and the revamped team personnel, and became a second string man....."The Hook" won the admiration of fans by staying with the squad and working hard and this season he promises to show his old flash.....His hook shot is unique and difficult to defend against.....He tallied 452 points two years ago when he was one of the nation's high scorers.

NORMAN MITCHELL: No. 9, Age 25, 6-4, Wt. 175, from Bloomington, Ind......The only freshman on the varsity squad, "Mitch" has the height and plenty of natural equipment to be a basketball player.....He played independent basketball in his home town and later with the Central California Servicemen's league at Mather Field..... Married to a North Carolina girl, he is just beginning his basketball and college career although he is 26 years old.

GUARDS

NORMAN KOHLER: No. 16, Age 25, Ht. 6-0, Wt. 185, from New York City.....Norm broke into Carolina's starting lineup last season after three years in the service.....He was a fine floor man last season and also racked up 208 points.....He played his finest game before his home folks in Madison Square Garden when he led Carolina to an upset victory over the New York Violets.....Norm was a great high school star and had one season's experience with the famous Long Island University team before he came to Carolina.

MERVIN COLE: No. 7, Age 26, Ht. 6-1, Wt. 175, from Manchester, Conn......"King" Cole starred for Carolina's junior varsity last season and opens the current campaign as a starter.....He played as a freshman and sophomore at Wesleyan University in 1939 and 1941.....Then he served as an army air pilot and was on extensive duty in the Pacific during the war.....He is a fine long shot.

TAYLOR THORNE: No. 3, Age 23, Ht. 5-10, Wt. 160, from Rocky Mount, N. C......"T" is a three-year letterman and has starred as an ace in the hole in many a Carolina game.....Probably the fastest man on the squad, expert at dribbling

REVIEW 19

North Carolina's White Phantoms, playing under a new coach, Tom Scott, had indifferent success a part of last season, disappointing some of their most ardent supporters, but they came through brilliantly at the finish and were runners-up in the Southern Conference tournamen

With Bob Paxton, John Dillon and Jim Whit holdover regulars from the team that capture the eastern NCAA championship the season be fore, the White Phantoms were expected to b winners. After thumping minor foes in four games however, they bowed to Northwestern and De Paul on a Western trip and then lost to LaSalle However, they came through to win over N.Y.U in an upset in Madison Square Garden.

Following that they hit the skids again, losing to Maryland and the Navy and barely nosing out South Carolina by one point. N.Y.U. won by 60-47 at Chapel Hill. Then Coach Scott made a radical move, benching Dillon, an All-American of the year before and famed hook shot artist, in favor of freshman Nemo Nearman, tallest player on the squad. The Tar Heels immediately perked up and closed their campaign by winning eight straight games, beating Duke twice during this run. Until the Tar Heels toppled Duke in that first encounter, the Blue Devils were considered e of the nation's strongest teams, had led the ague most of the way.

The White Phantoms were seeded two in the uthern Conference tournament and walloped chmond and South Carolina before bowing to . C. State, 48-50, in the finals. State, a sensa- nal team all season, had nosed out the Phan- ms by only two points, in overtime, in the one me played between the two teams on the reg- ar schedule.

Bob Paxton stamped himself as the class of the hite Phantom team, playing brilliantly all year. any considered him one of the great all-around erformers ever to represent Carolina. Jim Ham- on, however, led the scoring with 309 points. Paxton was runner-up with 277). This pair ade the team click, with Nearman proving an xcellent man at the pivot and Norm Kohler d Jim White doing yeoman service. Substitutes ere used sparingly.

Dillon was the team's biggest disappointment. e either did not fit in with the personnel of is year's squad or with the system that Scott ed. However, the Savannah boy played hard, en as a substitute and was immensely popular ith his many followers.

DAN NYIMICZ: No. 5, Age 23, Ht. 6-1, Wt. 160, from Rahway, N. J......Dan comes up from the junior varsity, a team on which he played fine basketball last season.....He is a letterman in golf, his next best love to basketball.....Three years in the service, he now ranks as a junior at Carolina.....Good set shot.

ED WAGNER: No. 17, Age 20, Ht. 6-2, Wt. 185, from Hollis, L. I. N. Y......."Cat" was co-captain of the New York city championship team in 1943-44.....While in the Navy he played with the Charleston Naval air station team.....Last season he was on the Carolina junior varsity team.

HARVEY WEINSTEIN: No. 11, Age 22, Ht. 6-2, Wt. 185, from New York City.....Weinstein grew up in basketball and starred for the James Madison high school in the big town.....He has had experience on freshman and junior varsity teams here.....A three-year veteran of the Marine corps, he served two years overseas..... Albert is expected to get his chance this season.

CAROLINA CAPTAIN

Bob Paxton, 22-year-old graduate student, is captain of the White Phantoms for the current season.

Bob, who stands 6-2 and weighs 175, earned his first basketball monogram at Carolina in 1944. Then, in 1945, he was a brilliant star on Carolina's 1945 NCAA Eastern championship team. Last season he carried on to even greater heights.

Specialist in rebound work, he also is a fine shot, one-handed, two-handed and lay-ups. He scored 274 points in 34 games in 1945 and he posted 274 points in 27 games in 1946.

Captain Paxton is expected to be an All-America candidate this season.

North Carolina All-Americans

Hoping that we are not putting the whammer on a great basketball player, we would like to offer Bob Paxton right now as a potential candidate for All-American honors this season.

His play in past seasons and his pre-season showing justify this high ranking. Keep your eyes on him.

George Glamack and John (Hook) Dillon are former Carolina All-Americans.
